We value her concern and support at all times, good and bad.

We, also, would like thank our technician, Mrs. Reshma Parab for helping us deal with any technical glitches faced by us and other faculties for helping us throughout the semester and encouraging us with their constant support.

We would like to thank our HOD, Mr. Abhijit Dongaonkar and our Principal, Mr. Umesh Kantute for providing us with indirect support and encouragement throughout the project and Shri Bhagubhai Mafatlal Polytechnic for providing us with the infrastructure and other facilities.

Problem Statement

India is a developing country which is advancing towards Digitization due to which the traditional market is migrating towards E-commerce. The main objective of making this project is to provide an end user with an interface using which he/she can organize the events of a wedding. It allows them to plan everything according to their requirements sitting at home, in comfort, without travelling to various locations and shops for buying and ordering the things required.

Wedding Planners are an alternative to self-planning but when we assign a wedding planner, there are multiple factors which makes this website a better alternative as compared to the planner. It solves the following problems:

- Unnecessary disagreements and problems occurring due to miscommunication between the client and planner.
- Reduces the chances of fraud.
- Saves the cost of a planner and provides better service.
- Best for people who prefer to do it their way.
- Helps in organizing a wedding in an estimated budget.
- Allows better choice of products from all over the country.
- Provides better management and organization.
- Provides transparency and information in detail.
- Allows you to customize and personalize your requirements.
- Provides quick comparison between different brands and manufacturers.

- For the users who are not comfortable with human interaction, this website will allow an interface for communication.
- Finding vendors that have ethics, quality, accountability, personality and experience can be a difficult task but using a website ensures that you get all of these.

Abstract

This project is focused on providing the functionalities required in organizing a wedding. We want to develop a website that is easy to use and covers all-round requirements to manage the events that take place during marriage. It allows the user to plan a wedding by themselves without any planners according to their choices and requirements in their estimated budget. It will include all the major aspects required to organize a wedding starting from the scratch. For instance, beginning from the invitations, we provide the functionality of designing the invitation card and sending it to the guests (mentioned in the guest list) till the arrangements and requirements of post marriage rituals.

Introduction

Elysian means “relating to or characteristic of heaven or paradise”. It is synonymous to heavenly, celestial, empyrean, and divine. In Greek mythology Elysium, also known as the Elysian Fields, was the paradise reserved for the heroes immortalized by the gods. Ancient Greek poets imagined it as the abode of the blessed after death. Hence, we named our website Elysian Weddings.

Now, coming to the reason of developing this website, it is generally observed that planning a wedding is a very hectic and time consuming task, so we decided to automate the same. This website acts as an alternative to the wedding planner. We intend to create an interface that is easily usable by an end user who is not so acquainted with using web based applications or websites. The user can create an account and access it whenever required allowing them to organize their selections whenever they want from wherever they want, providing them with the highest control.

The fundamental principle behind this website is to automate menial tasks and provide an interface that feels just as natural to users without any substantial computer experience as it does to tech-savvy individuals. This is built from the ground-up while retaining scalability, reliability and end user's convenience as the foundation, based on the experience gathered by the group in this domain.

Deployment Diagram

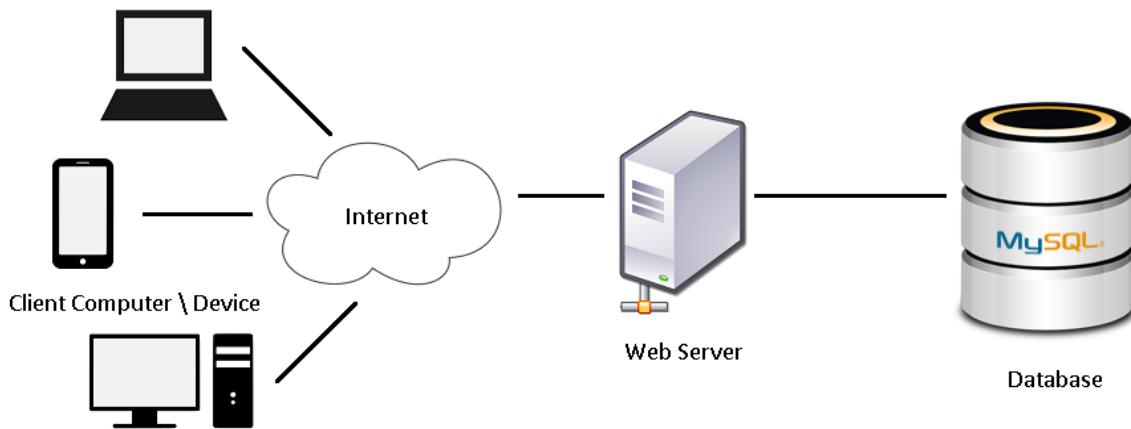

Basic Architecture

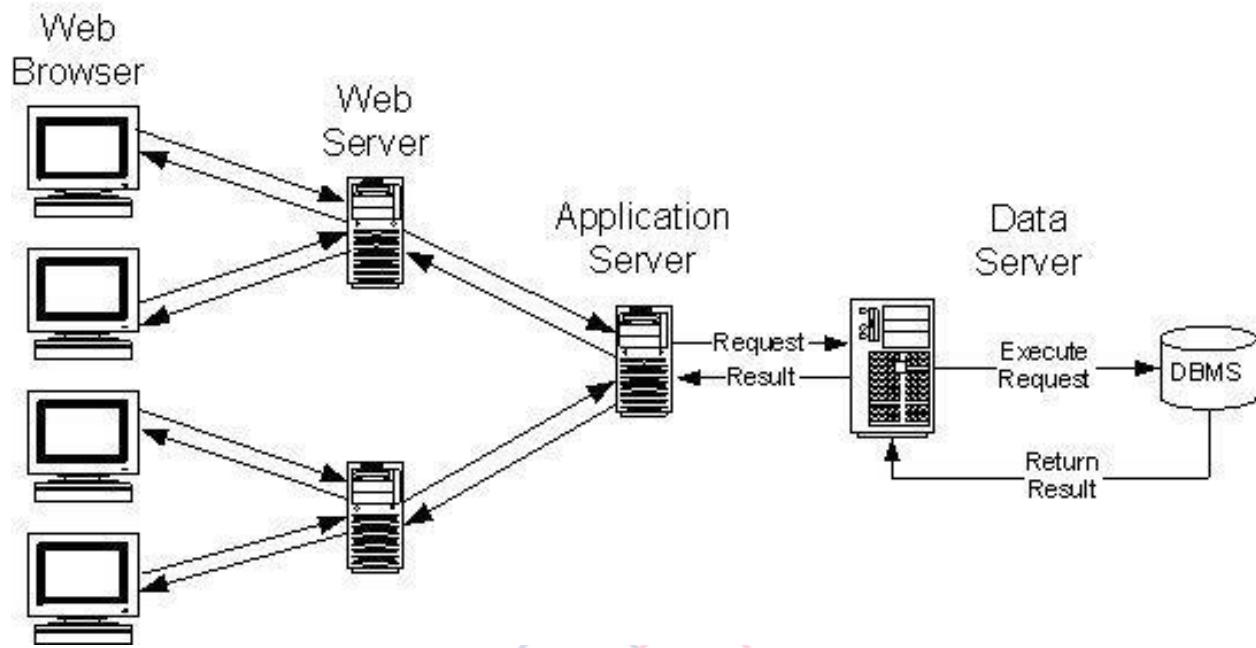

This website has been designed in such a way that it gives highest preference to user experience and user convenience. The basic architecture involves a Client, a Web Server and an underlying Database. It has a fairly simple architecture that effectively utilizes modern technologies to provide a stable and user friendly platform.

The client will make a request through the Web Browser from which he/she is accessing the website. The HTTP request will be sent to the Web Server, which will, in turn, access the static HTML pages, Database, Dynamic HTML pages and other services, to generate a response for the request made by the client. The response will be generated as a webpage in the Web Browser, visible to the client.

Typical Request Response Flow

Most applications which are based on Request-Response Flow are web applications. As the HTTP protocol is the foundation of the World Wide Web, it also plays an important role in the architecture of the Flow Cycle.

The basic walk through the web application is as follows:

- The Web Browser sends an HTTP request to a Web Server.
- The Web Server calls index.php and passes control over to the Flow.
- The Bootstrap initializes the bare minimum and passes control to a suitable request handler.
- By default, the HTTP Request Handler takes over and runs a boot sequence which initializes all important parts of the Flow.
- The HTTP Request Handler builds an HTTP Request and Response object. The Request object contains all important properties of the real HTTP request. The Response object in turn is empty and will be filled with information by a controller at a later point.
- The Server then processes the request and modifies the given HTTP Response object which will, in the end, contain the content to display (body) as well as any headers to be passed back to the client.
- Finally the RequestHandler sends the HTTP Response back to the Web Browser.

Platform/Framework/Tools

Front-end

- Languages

HTML (Hypertext Markup Language)

HTML5 is the latest and most enhanced version of HTML. Technically, HTML is not a programming language, but rather a markup language. HTML5 is used for structuring and presenting content on the World Wide Web.

It includes detailed processing models to encourage more interoperable implementations; it extends, improves and rationalizes the markup available for documents, and introduces markup and application programming interfaces (APIs) for complex web applications.

CSS3 (Cascading Style Sheet)

Cascading Style Sheets is a style sheet language used for describing the presentation of a document written in a markup language. CSS is a simple mechanism for adding style (e.g., fonts, colors, spacing) to Web documents. CSS describes how elements should be rendered on screen, on paper, in speech, or on other media. This is the latest version which supports media queries, namespaces, selector level 3, colour, etc.

JavaScript

JavaScript, often abbreviated as JS, is a high-level, interpreted programming language. It is a language which is also characterized as dynamic, weakly typed, prototype-based and multi-paradigm. JavaScript is very easy to implement because it is integrated with HTML. It is open and cross-platform. JS is a full-fledged dynamic programming language that, when applied to an HTML document, can provide dynamic interactivity on websites.

- Framework

Semantic UI 2

Semantic is a development framework that helps create stunning, responsive layouts using human-friendly HTML. It consists of responsively-designed, component-based concise HTML, intuitive JavaScript, simplified debugging, unbelievable theming and a number of built-in elements, collections, views, modules and behaviors which cover the gamut of interface design.

JQuery

JQuery is a cross-platform JavaScript library designed to simplify the client-side scripting of HTML. It is free, open-source software using the permissive MIT License. JQuery is a fast, small, and feature-rich JavaScript library. It makes things like HTML document traversal and manipulation, event handling, animation, and Ajax much simpler with an easy-to-use API that works across a multitude of browsers.

Back-end

- HTTP Web Server

Apache

The Apache HTTP Server, colloquially called Apache, is a free and open-source cross-platform web server, released under the terms of Apache License 2.0. The goal of this project is to provide a secure, efficient and extensible server that provides HTTP services in sync with the current HTTP standards. The Apache HTTP Server ("httpd") was launched in 1995 and it has been the most popular web server on the Internet since April 1996.

Apache is a web server software that supports a variety of features, many implemented as compiled modules which extend the core functionality. It contains features such as Loadable Dynamic Modules, Multiple Request Processing modes, handling of static files, index files, auto-indexing & content negotiation, .htaccess support and more.

- Language

PHP

Hypertext Preprocessor is a server-side scripting language designed for web development based on the Zend engine, but also used as a general-purpose programming language. The latest version includes support for return type declarations for functions, which complement the existing parameter type declarations, and support for the scalar types (integer, float, string, and Boolean) in parameter.

- Database

MySQL

MySQL is one of the most popular Open Source Relational SQL Database Management System being used for developing various web-based software applications. MySQL is developed, marketed and supported by MySQL AB, which is a Swedish company.

MySQL is released under an open-source license. It is a very powerful program in its own right. It handles a large subset of the functionality of the most expensive and powerful database packages.

MySQL uses a standard form of the well-known SQL data language. It works on many operating systems and with many languages including PHP, PERL, C, C++, JAVA, etc. It works very quickly and works well even with large data sets.

MySQL supports large databases, up to 50 million rows or more in a table. The default file size limit for a table is 4GB. It is customizable. The open-source GPL license allows programmers to modify the MySQL software to fit their own specific environments.

- Package Dependency Manager

Composer

Composer is an application-level package manager for the PHP programming language that provides a standard format for managing dependencies of PHP software and required libraries. This is used for PHPMailer for sending emails through PHP web application.

Google Maps API

Google Maps API (Application Programming Interface) is an API or a set of methods and tools that can be used for building software applications. Google Maps API allows you to display maps on your web site. This API is used for locating the venue of Halls.

Installation Guide

XAMPP

- Download the latest version of XAMPP from <https://www.apachefriends.org/download.html>
- Run the setup, select the Apache, PHP, MySQL and phpMyAdmin and click Next.
- Choose a folder to install XAMPP.
- After XAMPP is installed, check whether IIS server is installed on your machine, if yes, then you will either have to disable or change the port number of IIS from 80 to something else or you'll have to change the port number of Apache server and to do that follow the steps given below :
 - Stop the XAMPP server, if it is running already.
 - Open the file [XAMPP Installation Folder]/apache/conf/httpd.conf.
 - Now search for the string Listen 80 (assuming that your XAMPP was using the port 80. Otherwise, just search for the string ‘Listen’). This is the port number which XAMPP uses. Change this 80 to any other empty port which you prefer, such as 8080 or 8085.
 - Next, search for the string ServerName and update the port number there as well.
 - Now save and restart XAMPP server and you are done.
 - If you did change the port number of Apache because of IIS, go to setup.bat file in the project’s root folder and change ‘php artisan serve --port=80’ to ‘php artisan serve --port=8080’ i.e. replace it with the port number you used.

<h2>Description</h2>
Happy Dancing Feet (HDF) is your one-stop destination for Wedding Sangeet Choreography. From desi thumkas to dream-like sequences we've got it all covered. Whether you want a simple dance-based choreography, a fairy-tale musical with props and concepts, or just some quirky entertainment, we customize it all. We know that you and your guests attend a lot of Sangeet that have repetitive songs and performances, and we put in our heart and soul to make sure our choreography and ideas are fresh and unique. We put in efforts to understand you, your family and your choices before we design your dream Sangeet. We ensure that your special day is memorable not just for you but also for your guests as well! We really look forward to making your rehearsals, practices, behind the scenes as fun & fabulous as the main Sangeet affair. At, Happy Dancing Feet we believe that dance has tremendous power. Power to change, the power to heal and power to lend expression, which is why the mission of Happy Dancing Feet is to spread happiness and healing through Dance. We're all about having fun, yes, dance involves technique but what it really needs is a soul. When you love something it just flows through you; we don't choreograph the movements, we let them choreograph us.

Testing Reports

Unit Testing

Unit Testing is a level of software testing where individual units/ components of a software are tested. The purpose is to validate that each unit of the software performs as designed. A unit is the smallest testable part of any software. It usually has one or a few inputs and usually a single output. Unit Testing of software applications is done during the development (coding) of an application, by the developer itself.

We had started testing our modules from the 7th week till the last week of the project, at the end of every week, we performed unit testing on separate modules of the project which were created in that particular week, discovered errors, and based on the nature/priority of the errors and bugs, resolved the bugs over the weekend, and verified the same in the next week's unit testing.

Integration Testing

Integration testing (sometimes called integration and testing, abbreviated I&T) is the phase in software testing in which individual software modules are combined and tested as a group. The purpose of this level of testing is to expose faults in the interaction between integrated units.

In the last 2 weeks of the project, we performed integration testing by going through the entire flow of the website, right from Registration of a customer > Login > Services provided (such as Engagement, Haldi, Mehendi, Sangeet, Invitation card, Guest list, etc.) > Performing the Functionality of module or Purchase by Add to Cart > Checkout > Payment, completing a transaction as a whole. We successfully performed the entire flow and found a few minor bugs that were solved immediately.

Functional Testing

Functional testing is a software testing process used within software development in which software is tested to ensure that it conforms to all requirements. Functional testing is a way of checking software to ensure that it has all the required functionality that's specified within its functional requirements.

We verified the working of each module and its functioning according to the requirements defined by us while proposing the project. We checked the working of each module along with its features to perform this testing.

Usability Testing

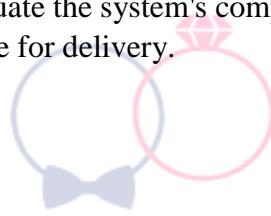

Usability testing is a technique used in user-centered interaction design to evaluate a product by testing it on users. This can be seen as an irreplaceable usability practice, since it gives direct input on how real users use the system.

Usability Testing is a type of software testing where, a small set of target end-users, of a software system, "use" it to expose usability defects. This testing mainly focuses on the user's ease to use the application, flexibility in handling controls and ability of the system to meet its objectives.

We performed this type of testing on a few of our colleagues and other known people for their review and reaction to the use of this website. We asked them to complete a demo transaction to understand the functioning of the website.

Acceptance Testing

Acceptance Testing is a level of software testing where a system is tested for acceptability. The purpose of this test is to evaluate the system's compliance with the business requirements and assess whether it is acceptable for delivery.

Regression Testing

Regression testing is a type of software testing that ensures that previously developed and tested software still performs the same way after it is changed or interfaced with other software. Changes may include software enhancements, patches, configuration changes, etc.

We performed this testing after modifying few of the modules by adding additional features and functionalities such as Upload CSV sub-module in Guest List module, etc.
